

Nuremberg

Imperial Palace

by Birgit Friedel and Ulrich Grossmann and illustrated by Timm Radt and Roman von Götz

DESCRIPTION:

Every booklet in this series presents an important medieval fortress, a castle, a stately home or a fortified complex in central Europe. The carefully and competently written texts, the ample number of photographs and the many drawings and plans provide both experts and booklovers interested in history and culture with state-of-the-art research on castles. In addition to extraordinary architectural photographs, many specially created drawings illustrate previous forms and buildings, while information boxes analyse various subjects and provide the main historical data.
