Luther and Calvinism

Image and Reception of Martin Luther in the History and Theology of Calvinism

edited by Herman J. Selderhuis

DESCRIPTION:
In this volume renowned authors in the disciplines of Reformed theology and scientific Luther-research document the international scientific research on the reception of Martin Luther in Calvinism. Comprehensively they analyse the image of Martin Luther in different calvinistic contexts. As experts they succeed in depicting the main relations between Lutheran and Calvinistic thinking in a precise and transparent manner. They outline Luther's immense influence on Calvinism and thus, provided a milestone on the way towards an exploration of Luther's importance within the European intellectual history.
